My logo blends HTML brackets with a globe to show how code connects the world. The arches form a trophy, symbolizing my commitment to being the best in my field.

What was hardest to decide?

The most difficult part for me was deciding on a final logo design and digitizing it using Figma. I felt that my creativity helped me in creating a design I like.

What did you remove?

I rejected complex 3D effects because they would have been too "busy." By keeping the design simple, it remains functional and easy to redraw by hand.

What does this design say about you?

As a passionate Web Developer, I designed the logomark with HTML brackets and a globe, which reflects my goal of building global connections. The arches represent a trophy, symbolizing my ambition to become the best in my field.
